UNEMPLOYED VETS MAY BE GIVEN WORK

Asked to Register at the Office of Dr. Zimmerman Saturday

A call to all Lake County unemployed veterans of all wars was issued by Dr. L. J. Zimmerman, president of the new county veterans commission, to report to his office any time Saturday morning for registration.

All of these veterans will be given employment if the plan sponsored by Dr. Zimmerman is accepted by the Illinois Emergency Relief.

Dr. Zimmerman received a communication from Bill Woodard, superintendent of the new organization, to the effect that it would be necessary to have registration of veterans on relief or those entitled to relief placed with the Illinois Free Employment office on Lake St., Waukegan, as soon as possible. To facilitate distribution, he is having registry blanks sent to Dr. Zimmerman.

Any veteran now employed, who will shortly be out of work, or those on part time also are entitled to register.

A meeting will be held at the village hall Tuesday morning, Nov. 28, at 11:30 when Woodard, Zimmerman, Supervisor William A. Rosing, and the Bogardus officer and service officer of the Antioch post will consider application for relief and employment. It will be essential that each veteran in the Antioch township be present at this meeting, whether or not they are members of any service organization.

Service, Not Wealth, Basis for Happiness, Speaker Declares

Major Sexton Scores "Chiselers;" Greed and Grab Acts Un-American

Un-American, greed and grab methods of doing business have produced an all too numerous class known as "chiselers" who are in a large measure responsible for the deplorable state of affairs in the United States today, according to Major A. J. Sexton, commander of the Seventh District of the American Legion, who addressed the first dinner meeting of the Men's Club at the Methodist Church Thursday evening.

Speaking on the theme "100% American," Major Sexton declared that the peculiar heritage of Americans—life, liberty and pursuit of happiness, for all was expounded 33 years ago when the angels on the plains of Judea brought good tidings—"which shall be to all mankind." mere accumulation of wealth is a false objective and results in graft and greed, and these dishonest methods have produced a generation of "chiselers," the speaker said. Service, not wealth, is the real basis of happiness, and each individual and every community working toward mutual helpfulness and happiness would exemplify and eventually bring about a realization of the objective of our national constitution—"life, liberty and pursuit of happiness."

Major Sexton was substitute speaker for Congressman James Simpson, who was called to Washington Thursday. The congressman's report was read.

Ladies of the church served dinner to the 30 present.

Four students were chosen after a series of elimination contests to represent Antioch grade school at a conference spelling contest to be held at Lake Villa school December 8. They are Berneice Sherman, Florence Hackert, Wendell Nelson and Robert Chinn. The contest will be written.

The musical organizations and solos of the Antioch grade school are busy practicing for a concert to be presented December 15.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hovanec entertained Sunday for Mr. and Mrs. Bogart and daughter, Eleanor, of Kenosha, and Mrs. Hovanec's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Myer, Cicero.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Lutterman were Racine visitors Sunday.

Jake Drom Hurt When Wagon Is Struck by Car

Jake Drom, Sr., received injuries to his head shortly before noon today, when a car struck his wagon as he was driving north on Main street, causing him to be thrown to the pavement.

The car, driven by a Mr. Martin, Brooklyn, N. Y., approached from the south and struck the wagon, breaking the rear and scattering planks all over the street.

Mr. Drom was taken to Dr. W. Warriner's office, where three stitches were taken on the back of his head. Fred Hawkins ran out and caught the horses to prevent a runaway.

Mr. Martin said that he had been driving for a considerable distance, and had momentarily dozed off. The front of his car was damaged.

Second American Legion Talk Given By Rev. L. Sitler

"Courage and Honor" was the subject of the talk given by Rev. L. V. Sitler before the grade school children Monday afternoon, in the second of a series of talks sponsored by the American Legion for the purpose of developing a higher type of citizenship in the youth of today.

The two qualities of honor and courage are closely woven together," Rev. Sitler said. "Honor is the right thing, whether seen or unseen; courage is the strength to do right."

He elaborated on this text, pointing out the difference between physical courage, which might be exemplified even by a bully, and moral strength which is possessed by heroes or martyrs. "Resenting an insult to the point of physical violence, or accepting a foolish dare does not represent real courage," he pointed out. "Fighting rarely brings permanently good results—and is certainly costly."

Moral courage of the highest type takes more strength of character than a prizewinner possesses," he said.

ANTIOTH G. S. LOSES PRACTICE GAME TO L. VILLA

The Antioch Grade school basketball team lost a practice game yesterday afternoon to Lake Villa by a 18-11 score. Those playing for Antioch were Jack Crandall, Charles Miller, George Hawkins, Charles Hawkins, Joe Koukol, Wendell Nelson and Bernard Osmond.

The first regular game of the season will be held Saturday afternoon at Fox Lake.

Fir Trees Go To Will Rogers Camp For Children On Camp Lake, Wisconsin

Fir trees on trucks travelling north through town have aroused the curiosity of many in Antioch on a number of occasions this fall. Where were they going? What was their destination?

They are headed for Camp Lake, about five miles northwest of Antioch, in Kenosha County, Wisconsin, where Will Rogers is having erected the "Shag Bark" camp for boys and girls. These fine "Christmas" trees, and other varieties of the pine family, are being used to landscape the grounds of the new camp.

It is the gift to the Salvation Army of Will Rogers, noted humorist-actor, who has endowed one of the most complete camping layouts of its kind anywhere for the use of the Salvation Army.

A main hall and eight log cabins to be used as dormitories, all flanking a hill overlooking the lake, will be completed by Dec. 1. The property covers 12 acres. Each building is to have electric lights and modern plumbing. Two general washhouses will provide showers for the boys and girls who attend the camp.

Project Aid Unemployment

The project is also serving as a means for nearly 5,000 men to receive some cash wages, by Dec. 1. A hundred unemployed men, all with families, are brought up from Chicago by the Salvation Army every ten days. The men are paid $1 a

SHORE TOWNS MAY JOIN HOCKEY LEAGUE

Interest Grows in Winter Sport as Local Season Nears

Possibilities of the formation of a six or eight club hockey league representing Illinois North Shore towns looms as time nears for ringing up the curtain on this season's opener of the winter sport that has grown rapidly in favor since being started here for the first time less than two years ago, according to G. A. Whitmore, president of the local Hockey Club.

Great interest is being shown at Highland Park, Evanston, and other North Shore towns, including Waukegan where an organization has already been effected to sponsor a good team for the county seat city. Northwestern University also is interested in such a league, it is said. A meeting is to be held at an early date to perfect the project and arrange a playing schedule.

Fox Lake, Antioch and Fox River Grove, members of last year's Illinois-Wisconsin league, are expected to remain in the Illinois group, while Lake Geneva, Delavan, Burlington, Kenosha and Racine, are expected to retain their franchises in a similar league in Wisconsin.

Development of young local players will be encouraged, according to Whitmore and William Anderson, team manager, and all youngsters who would like to try out for the team are requested to see either Mr. Anderson or Mr. Whitmore.

A benefit dance to raise funds to defray expenses of fitting out the rink will be held Saturday night of this week at Bruno Rejewsky's Pasadena Gardens. Music will be furnished by Johnnie Kukol's orchestra.

ACQUIT WOODSTOCK WOMAN: SHOT WAS IN SELF DEFENSE

A verdict of murder in self-defense was returned late last Thursday afternoon in the trial of Mrs. Lillian Gathman, Woodstock, charged with the murder of John H. Thompson, a farm neighbor.

The slaying occurred October 25 at the Gathman home, after a drinking party, when Thompson struck Mrs. Gathman several times, according to testimony of her children, causing the woman to shoot in self defense. A coroner's jury exonerated her, but State's Attorney V. S. Lumley was not convinced and the McHenry County grand jury returned an indictment charging murder the following Tuesday.

Sunday guests at the William Keulman home were Mr. and Mrs. John Jones and two children and Charles Selby, Bristol.

For many years he operated a farm south of Antioch on the Fox Lakes road, where his son now has a subdivision. His wife preceded him in death June 10, 1899.

He is survived by his son, P. K. Blunt, and daughter, Mrs. Rona Clark, Antioch. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, the Odd Fellows, the Rebekahs, and the Eastern Star chapter.

Londos Wins Fourth Bout With McMillen

Reverse Body Hold Finally Floors McMillen After Fifty-four Min.

500 Persons Every 10 Days

During the season that closed on Labor day the Salvation Army sent 500 persons to the 64-acre camp adjoining the Will Rogers site every 10 days. In this group were 300 mothers and children who could not otherwise secure a vacation, and 200 others who could not otherwise secure a vacation, and 200 employees and officers of the corps. The latter pay for their time in camp. The capacity of the Will Rogers camp will be 200 boys, and the girls will have their turn in camp, alternating with the boys.

When the formal dedicatory exercises are held next spring Will Rogers is expected to be on hand to participate. The donor is being honored with a likeness being carved in stone over the fireplace in the main hall and adjoining it will be another carving of Commander Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army, and two smaller stones symbolizing a Boy Scout and Girl Scout.

McMillen went down not long afterwards when the Greek clamped on a series of reversed headlocks and finally a reverse body hold propelled the local grappler on his back to end the bout.

GOLD BUYER TO RETURN MONDAY

Says Trade Was Good; Offers Another Opportunity to Sell Gold

Finding Antioch people responsive to his offer to buy old gold, silver, or diamonds last Monday, the representative of the American Scale Works of Waukegan will return to the Waldo Hotel next Monday afternoon, November 27. Many expressed curiosity in the buyer's method of testing the genuineness of gold, a simple operation with acid and scales. According to Mr. Waldo, everyone seemed satisfied at the prices which their articles brought.

Gold filings or crowns are the finest kind of gold, the buyer said, and weigh heavier accordingly than other things. Among the articles which he will buy are old rings, watches, cuff links, brooches, bracelets, fountain pens, napkin rings, spoons, or anything containing gold or silver. He also mentioned that old-fashioned gold watch chains, of the long type worn around the neck, were valuable, and on two occasions he paid $2.50 per chain.

The American Scale Works is a reliable concern, licensed by the government. The buyer will be at the hotel Monday from noon until 8 p.m.

TROUBLE IN THE FARM BELT

There's trouble in the farm belt. There have been strikes and violence and threats. Farmers have refused to pay taxes and debts. Strikers have prevented, through force of arms, the movement of farm products from producer to distributor.

The cause lies in the fact that the agricultural income, as a whole, has been declining while urban income, which controls the cost of living, has been going up. The exchange value of farm products recently touched one of the lowest points of depression.

One can sympathize with farmers facing this condition. But the thing they should attack is the actual cause of the condition—instead of tilting at windmills. Violence never cured an economic ill, and it never will. The great difficulty faced by those seeking to aid the farmer, is lack of organization. Millions of producers are unorganized, with no one who is controlled by their desires, to speak for them. It has been too much of every man for himself, with the result that few have prospered.

Certain groups of farmers have shown how to change all this. The cotton growers of the South, for example, are in a sounder position than in a long time—because they have an established, well supported cooperative with which to fight their battles. The milk producers of New York are in a similar position, and when violence broke out there among non-organized farmers, it was the cooperative which did most to restore order and point out the futility of dumping milk shipments and blocking highways and waving guns. Other cooperative groups, in other parts of the country, have equally impressive records.

It is these organized farmers who are getting somewhere by standing solidly behind their cooperatives. And that means real agricultural progress.

MONEY—OUR BIGGEST ECONOMIC PROBLEM

Strangely enough, there's no economic subject the average citizen knows less about than money. He uses it daily, but the tokens with which he barter, aren't really money at all. Their only value lies in the credit of the government issuing them. Real money is seldom seen—it is gold and is jealously hoarded by treasuries.

As a result, the average citizen was pretty well puzzled when the U. S. Government announced that it had started a world gold buying campaign in an effort to raise commodity prices. He couldn't see the connection. As a matter of fact, the connection is simple enough if simply explained—it's very much like an auction. The more people you get to bid for an object, the more valuable it becomes. That's true of gold. When the United States went into the market there was another important bidder for the yellow metal, and its price rose accordingly. At the same time, the value of the dollar, which has a definite gold backing, declined, and commodity prices went up. Briefly described, the dollar has been cheapened, and it is worth less wheat, clothing or gasoline than it was a while ago.

At the moment, the world's free gold supply, if melted down, would amount to a ten-foot cube, worth about $400,000,000. Since 1929, when Columbus discovered the new world, all the gold mined would amount to only a 40-foot cube and over half of that has vanished, either through being sunk in ships, made into jewelry, or hoarded.

Most important, foe of the U. S. gold policy is the British Empire. London is the world's largest gold market, and any buying campaign will naturally center there. Dollars are exchanged for pounds, in order to buy in the English market, thus increasing the international supply of American currency and increasing the demand for English currency. A more expensive pound must follow, discouraging Britain's foreign trade. Matters are at a deadlock. It's going to be a monetary battle of the giants, with the two greatest financial powers of the world opposed.

YOU OWE $2,000
You, the average citizen, are in debt $2,000. So is your wife. So are each of your children and all other relatives. So is everyone else in the country.

A part of this debt you know about. You contracted it as a personal obligation. It's entirely your responsibility. But another—and larger part—was contracted for you. The chances are that you don't realize you owe it—no one is dunning you for payment, and you aren't so much as paying the interest directly.

This latter is the public debt, which composes a substantial proportion of a total national debt in excess of $200,000,000,000. It's been growing at an accelerated rate during and since the war. You've permitted it to grow. You and your fellow citizens weren't sufficiently interested in government to work for policies standing for economy and efficiency. Or you voted for measures that increased the debt because it was easy to do, and didn't seem to affect you financially at all.

As a result we are paying one of the highest tax rates in history. Millions of our dollars go yearly to meet the interest on debt we permitted government to contract for us. Billions will be required to retire the public bonds we gave our debtors in exchange for their money. And every business, every individual, feels the burden.

Do your part, as a voter and taxpayer, to reduce the national debt, by opposing projects which would increase it.

Some gasolines are overloaded, for quick starting in winter, with light, gassy parts, which you lose after your engine warms up, thereby reducing your mileage. Other gasolines are hard to start, and waste your fuel by excessive "choking" and, therefore, they, too, reduce your mileage.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Soul and Body" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 19.

The Golden Test was, "Ye, in the way of thy judgments, O Lord, have we waited for thee; the desire of our soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee" (Isaiah 26:8).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For if we live after the flesh, ye shall die; but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live. For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God" (Romans 8:13, 14, 16).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Even though you aver that the material senses are indeed possible to man's existence or entity, you must change the human concept of life, and must at length know yourself spiritually and scientifically" (p. 359).

Experiences In Antarctic Told By Chas. E. LofgrenLand of Midnight Sun Is Also Land of a Four-Months' Night

The thrilling story of Commander Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic Polar Expedition was recounted before the high school assembly Tuesday morning by Charles Lofgren, personal director and secretary of the expedition.

"The Antarctic Circle is almost void of animal life, with the exception of the seal and the whale, and there is no human life," he said.

While the forty-two men and nine-tive dogs were marooned in four months of darkness on the Ross barrier from April 21 to Aug. 21, awaiting the coming of "day" and the return of the supply ship, they endured many strange experiences, including temperature as low as 72 degrees below zero. It was so cold, Mr. Lofgren said, that one could actually hear his breath freeze. Every Saturday night they heard radio programs, and at other times they amused themselves with the phonograph, minstrel shows, moving pictures, etc.

They often observed the aurora australis or southern lights with wonder, and the moon appeared to be inverted with the "eyes" at the bottom. After day returned it gradually lengthened, until it lasted for nearly twenty-four hours, rising in the east, and setting in the southeast.

Among the interesting discoveries made was the finding of a message left by Raoul Amundsen, a Norwegian explorer, who penetrated the Antarctic Circle eighteen years before; another was the discovery of coal, indicating that the land had once been covered with abundant vegetation.

Commander Byrd made the last lap to the "Pole" by plane, many miles away from their base in Little America, and when approximately over the Pole, dropped the American flag. A new land was discovered, which was named Marie Byrdland, in honor of the commander's wife.

Mr. Lofgren carried, with him and displayed at the close of his talk an American flag, which, he said, had been to both poles—to the North Pole in 1926, and to the South Pole in 1929, as well as across the Atlantic Ocean.

With Mr. Lofgren was his dog, Tom Pratt, a beautiful Labrador Husky, born in Little America on the Expedition.

Chicago to Stage Finals of Live Stock Show Year

Chicago, Nov. 23.—Next week the 1933 International Live Stock Exposition will open for its 34th year in Chicago. The show will be held from December 2 to 9.

B. H. Heide, secretary-manager of the Exposition, sees in the large entry of live stock and crops an expression of faith in their calling on the part of the continent's leading farmers and stock breeders and an indication of the basic stability of live stock farming, notwithstanding the general depression.

Coming each year the week following Thanksgiving, the Chicago Exposition is the close of the agricultural show season in North America, which begins with the district and county fairs of early summer, and

NEW INSULATION WILL MAKE LIFE BEARABLE FOR BYRD AND HIS MEN IN LITTLE AMERICA

Physicians say there is no such thing as cold; that it is simply the absence of heat. True enough scientifically speaking; but Admiral Richard E. Byrd, who has been to the South Pole once and is now enroute there again for a two years' sojourn found cold a very real something, what with temperatures running usually around one hundred below.

On this second expedition into the Antarctic, Admiral Byrd and his men have provided for many of the necessities and comforts which, because of inexperience, were lacking on the first trip. The terrible cold of the ice-jammed stretches of Little America, as the Admiral has named the new domain, presented one of the great problems of the first expedition. It was not a question of how to keep the cold out of the little huts in which the expeditionary force was housed; it was how to keep within—to conserve—the precious heat generated by the little stoves in the huts.

On this second expedition, Admiral Byrd resolved to avail himself of one of the luxuries of American building construction—insulation. Learning of comprehensive tests recently made with a new insulation material, known as metalization, the Admiral obtained a large supply of it; and it will be used in the huts to be constructed in Little America.

Metalization is thin aluminum sheets cemented to a strong, quality of paper, the use of paper making its application easy and a little cost. The theory of this form of insulation, as held by the manufacturers, the Reynolds Metals Company, is that the bright unarmishable surface of the aluminum sheets reflects the heat waves back toward their source; in addition, it does not absorb the heat.

The test which convinced Admiral Byrd of the efficiency of this metalization showed that a sheet of the material .0035 of an inch thick was the equivalent, in its insulating properties, to 20 inches of concrete, 12 inches of concrete through the larger fairs and expositions in a climax in Chicago.

Canadians Take Part

The fact that Canadians are as active participants as are those from the states gives the Exposition its name implies, the management pointing out that farmers of the Dominion send an increasing number and variety of brick, 3.4 inches of plaster board, 2.44-inches of wood or .80 inches of fibre board. It has been estimated that, of the heat losses from uninsulated building, 30 per cent is due to absorption and the bulk, or 70 per cent, to radiation. It is this loss by radiation which the aluminum metalization so effectively prevents. Metalization has the added value of being fire-resisting, moisture proof, vermin proof and non-deteriorating.

Builders are watching with interest the severe tests to which metalization will be subjected on the Byrd expedition; the manufacturers are confident of the results. They predict that it will revolutionize modern building construction and become as necessary a commodity in the building trade as lumber itself. Its low cost and the mass production plans will be strong factors in its general use. It is estimated that a five room cottage can be metalized for $20 or $25 and a mansion for $150 or less.

SALT PORK MAY BE SERVED IN A VARIETY OF WAYS

Is Used to Best Advantage When Supplemented with Vegetables

Salt pork may be one of the chief articles of food on the menu of needy families in Lake County and throughout the midwest, since distribution by the federal emergency relief administration has already begun.

The curing and preserving salt on the meat should not be removed by washing until the meat is to be used, and then should be soaked for several hours. Try some of these recipes:

Fried Salt Pork with Apples

Cook sliced fat salt pork in water, drain and fry until crisp. Use some of the drippings for making milk gravy and the rest to fry apples, or apples and carrots. Serve with hot biscuits, corn bread, rice, or hominy.

Salt Pork Hash

Chop an onion and fry it in 1/4 cup of salt pork drippings. Add 2 cups each of chopped cooked lean salt pork and unsalted cooked whole wheat or rice. If desired add hominy and chopped green pepper or carrot. Stir until heated thoroughly.

Spanish Rice

Chop about 1/4 pound of salt pork and fry until crisp. Slice 2 onions and brown them in the fat. Add 1 quart of fresh or canned tomatoes and 3 to 4 cups of cooked rice. Season to taste with pepper, and salt if needed.

Vegetable Chowder

Fry 1 cup diced salt pork until crisp and remove the browned pieces from the fat. Chop an onion fine and cook it in the fat. In the meantime boil 2 cups diced raw potatoes, and 1 cup each of chopped cabbage, turnips, and carrots in one pint unsalted water. As soon as the vegetables are tender, add 1 pint milk, and cooked salt pork and onions. When heated, season to taste with pepper, and salt if needed.

Baked Savory Greens

Fry until crisp 1/2 cup of diced fat salt pork. Add 2 quarts of shredded cabbage, kale, spinach, or other greens, cover the pan, and cook slowly until tender. Season to taste with vinegar and salt if needed.

Cranberries, Squash Are Indispensable On Thanksgiving

For Something New This Year Serve Cranberry Juice Cocktail

Thanksgiving just wouldn't be Thanksgiving without cranberries and squash in some form. Some things can be dispensed with—perhaps the turkey will have to give way to a more chicken this year—but there must be a little squash and cranberry sauce.

If you're having special guests this Thanksgiving, or are serving a luncheon about that time, why not try this delicious cranberry juice cocktail?

Cranberry Juice Cocktail

4 cups cranberries
4 cups water
2/3 cups granulated sugar
Cook the cranberries and water about five minutes. Strain the mixture through cheesecloth and bring the juice to the boiling point. Add the sugar and cook the mixture until it boils for two minutes. Chill the juice and serve it cold. Orange juice or ginger ale may be added if desired.

Stuffed Squash

Cut a summer squash into upper and lower halves horizontally and remove the seeds. Cook halves in boiling water for ten minutes, then drain. Fill them with a stuffing made by mixing together 1/2 cup of finely chopped ham, 1 cup of medium white sauce, 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper, and a dash of salt and pepper. Place the stuffed halves on a well-greased baking sheet. Cover the tops with buttered crumbs and bake the squash for 20 minutes in a moderate oven—about 375 degrees F. Baked Squash with Marshmallows Cut squash in pieces and bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) until soft, from shell and mash. Season with salt and pepper. Place in buttered casserole and cover top with marshmallows. Place in oven until marshmallows are browned. Chopped nuts may be added.

Simplify Cooking, With Milk, Fruits, Corn and Potatoes

By WALTER W. McLAUGHLIN
Director, Illinois Department of Agriculture

This business of helping the farmers of your state is far from being a one-sided affair, for when you help them you help yourselves—your health, your experience and your food budget. Also, you can make your housekeeping easier if you utilize these Illinois-grown foods. Milk and the three fruits—apples, grapes and peaches—are delicious in their natural form and require no cooking by the housewife; and potatoes and corn are among the most easily prepared vegetables, requiring little special care in cooking to safeguard their vitamins.

Breakfast in many households is a neglected meal. One reason for this is probably that less attention is paid to making it attractive and varied than is given to the other meals. Some variety in foods is desirable for it promotes appetite which is, of course, most important because no matter how nutritious the food you set before your family, it won't do them any good if it's unattractive and not only prepared that they won't eat it.

Grandma's Rocker

My, my, kitty, I'm glad I'm not out hangin' up clothes like Mrs. Perkins in this wind, aren't you? Why, you lazy critter. Guess you know when you're well off, too.

Will you look at those clothes—don't look like they'd been washed at all! Gladys, look at that—down-right dingy, they are. What did you say? Oh, she said they were yellow from being packed away—well, that's no excuse. She ought to know that all she has to do is to put two tablespoonsfuls of turpentine in the boiling water. That'll make em fresh and sweet.

That woman has lots to learn, hasn't she, Gladys? Must not have had much trainin' at home like what I tried to give you and Emily. Just look at that shirt—with that big blob on it—must be ink. Poor Jimmy can't help gettin' ink on ones in a while—but when he does, it stays on till the shirt is nigh worn out. And shod only have to make a thick paste with a tablespoon of cream of tartar and another of powdered alum and a little water, and press it on the spot real hard, and then let it dry fore washin'.

Well, she's pretty young yet—even if Jimmy is pretty near eight years old. I remember once when John came home from school stuck up with gum—it was when he was in high school—and people was just beginnin' to chaw gum all the time. I didn't have the slightest idee what to do to get that gum off, then—but by the time Walter got so's he was chewin' it and gettin' himself all stuck up, I knew what to do. Just soften the gum with egg white, and then wash. That's all. Well, we live and learn, don't we, Fuzzy-cat?

Plot Of "The Gambler" Spoiled By Stilted Style

Heroine of Katherine C. Thurston's Novel Is Overdrawn

"The Gambler" by Katherine Coel Thurston might have been a very good novel if treated differently. It has possibilities. The plot was rather unusual—an elderly Englishman interested chiefly in archaeology finds himself in the position of protector to two Irish orphans, the oldest of whom, Clodagh, is the heroine of the story. Her father had

An easy way to provide that important attractive variety is to substitute for the regular "orange juice, toast and coffee" breakfast, one made up of apples, grapes or peaches, toast or cereal and fresh milk. In this way you'll be patronizing the farmers of your own state instead of the orange growers of California and the coffee planters of South America, and you'll be gaining in food value and taste as well, for by substituting milk for coffee you will be truly exchanging something for nothing, as coffee has no nutritive value, whereas milk comes nearest to being a complete meal in itself with its abundance of protein, Vitamins A and G, calcium and phosphorus.

If you put peaches on your breakfast menu you will be giving your family Vitamins A and B and some iron (dried peaches are especially rich in iron); and if you exchange grapes or apples for oranges you will be getting some of that same Vitamin C that is in oranges, plus some Vitamin B and valuable minerals. (And you don't have to squeeze your Illinois fruits.)

Illinois Foods in the School Lunch.

Another place where the products of your own state will help make your housekeeping easier is in preparing the child's school lunch. Of course milk is the one essential that should never be omitted from that lunch, and Illinois chief fruits—apples, peaches and grapes—are, conveniently, all of the easily-canned type.

Enough about convenience in feeding the family. Now, how about the housewife's convenience in feeding herself? If you would like to reduce weight but hate to try following a reducing diet because of all the trouble in preparing special thinning dishes for yourself, this Illinois-products menu you are feeding your family will solve that problem: for fresh milk, fruits and vegetables are right at the top of the list of reducing foods, because they satisfy appetite without adding pounds. You will have to go lightly on the potatoes and corn if it is true, for they do have a high starch content, but the other foods—the milk, grapes, peaches and apples, should be standbys of your reducing diet.

gamblin' away all their money and property, and to repay his friend, the Englishman, she marries him. Then she meets other men, and women, too, who exert an influence upon her.

The first hundred pages of the book aren't particularly interesting, but for a time after that, the story seems to "pick up." One has hopes. After Clodagh has married her Englishman and gets out "into the world," one looks for a change for the better. The stiffness of speech and stilted description, however, with the underlying feeling of morality which is vaguely irritating, ruins what might have been an unusual book. Most of the characters are overdrawn—their characteristics emphasized beyond the point of naturalness.

Want to Reduce Hip Measure? Try These Exercises

This ought to be the ideal time for getting rid of a few extra pounds of avordupois tissue—extra flesh—rolls of fat, or what-have-you, there being two perfectly good incentives. The first and to most of us the primary reason would be that the closett-gowns of this season demand a trim figure; the second that a stricter count of calories might result in a small saving which could be used to better advantage for Christmas gifts.

To reduce the hip measure, several exercises may be recommended.

NO. 1. Lie flat on the back on the floor with hands extended overhead. Keep the hands extended back stretched. Keep shoulders on floor, then roll on the hip far over to the right, then left. Repeat one hundred times each morning for six weeks.

NO. 2. Lie flat on back, with arms extended at sides. Swing the right leg over and come as close as possible to touching the extended finger tips of the left hand. Alternate by swinging the left leg over to touch the right hand finger tips. Work up to at least fifty times each morning.

NO. 3. Lie flat on back; bring legs up on one count; separate and extend them sideways on the count of two; back to second position, and then slowly lower them to floor. Do the first three movements rapidly. Try this exercise ten times the first morning, and work up to more.

These exercises are good also for reduction of waist line, diaphragm and legs.

Tea and coffee pots should be rinsed with cold water, washed with hot water, scalded, dried and left open after each use.

County Conference For Young People Is Planned for Dec. 1

County Council Sponsors
Meet to Be Held in Libertyville

Under the direction of the Lake County Council of Religious Education, a county-wide conference of young people and their teachers and leaders is being planned by Rev. Merrill S. Tope, of Fox Lake, and his five district associates in young people's work. The Rev. M. Tope is the Young People's Division Superintendent for the County Council of Religious Education.

This meeting will be held at the Libertyville Methodist Episcopal Church, Friday evening, December 1st. Members of young people's departments and Sunday School classes from nearly all of the Protestant churches in the county are expected to attend and participate. The plan is to hold two separate group conferences, one for the young people themselves, ages twelve to twenty-four, under competent leadership, and the other group made up of the adult teachers of young people in the Sunday school and leaders of young people's groups, to discuss materials and methods of working with young people. The two groups will be combined in one assembly for the closing service of the conference. The leaders and speakers at this conference will be experienced specialists in young people's work. Program details are being worked out by Rev. Mr. Tope and his district associates.

If this effort to bring the young people and their leaders together meets with success, this gathering will be followed by district conferences and institutes, where problems of vital importance to workers with young people will be discussed.

Where Tuberculosis
Germ Thrive

An old red box car had been derailed and dragged into a cornfield near enough the tracks so that the husband of the family, who works for the railroad, had easy access to his job. Soot and dirt sifted through the roof, poured down upon the little home from the belching engines in the yard all summer long. Noise, dirt and confusion. Eight children, ranging from nine down to the baby, three weeks old, and the parents live here.

A crude partition separates the sleeping quarters from the kitchen. Two large beds, covered with old rugged quilts, give a night's rest to this pitiful family. One of the small children dies and the report is sent to the nurse of the local Tuberculosis Association:

She hurries out into the country. The child died of tuberculosis in the form of meningitis. The nurse has difficulty in getting the facts because neither of the parents could speak English.

The remaining seven children and the two parents are on the suspect list and are receiving careful attention in our clinic at St. Therese's Hospital, where open clinics are held every third Wednesday of the month. Thanks to the cooperation of the hospital authorities, we have a "student" nurse assigned to us monthly for this work.

This is the plight of one family. Won't you help us in our fight against the spread of this fearful disease? Tuberculosis is the greatest cause of death in the age group 15 to 45, excepting accidents. Much of the money raised by Christmas Seals is directed to preventative work with children.

Christmas Seals cost little, but they do much.

Freshmen To Hold

The parents will be shown over the building, and meet the teachers of their children. A program has been planned, including music by members of the freshman class, a brief speech by Prin. L. O. Bright, and a basketball game between sections of the freshman class.

A chicken pie dinner will be served at 7:15, with post graduates as waitresses.

According to Miss Alice E. Smith, faculty adviser for the class, an effort is being made to insure every parent and student being present.

Obituary

Otto Kirach

Otto Kirach, 88, widely known Kenosha county and Salem resident, passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Krahn, Wednesday, Nov. 1. Funeral services were held the following Saturday from the Holy Cross Lutheran Church at Burlington, with interment in the family plot at Burlington.

Mr. Kirach was born in Buesenau, Germany, Oct. 21, 1845, but came to America with his family after the death of his wife, leaving one son, William.

He was a tailor by trade in the mother country, and during his life here insisted on doing his own mending. For more than forty years he has been a member of the Krahn household, where he was very useful and well-beloved by grandchildren and friends. Until the past year when his health began to fail rapidly, he read and sewed without the aid of his glasses.

The deceased is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Theresa Krahn, 14 grandchildren, and 26 great grandchildren, all of whom reside in or near Salem. He was a devout follower of the Lutheran faith.

Facing the Facts

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

The incurable optimist may possess a sense of personal satisfaction in his conviction that everything is ordered for the best. His enthusiasm, however, unless seasoned with reason, is likely to be seriously disillusioned when he faces the stern realities of life. The disposition to look on the bright side of things is most praiseworthy providing it does not blind one to the real import of current issues.

The lot of the pessimist is neither to be envied nor admired. The optimist has many friends. Everyone shuns the pessimist. The essence of pessimism is that the cosmos is essentially evil and that a gloomy interpretation of life is justifiable.

Pessimism is a serious danger if it becomes one's dominating impulse. It may play havoc with the psyche centers. Not to be able to interpret life from the more hopeful point of view will soon impair the judgment and render one incapable of doing the best work.

Perhaps our best encouragement is to come from neither the optimist nor the pessimist. We like the fresh and exhilarating spirit of the optimist, but we are not willing to shut our eyes to certain facts which cause us serious concern. We want to keep company with the optimist, but conditions at times compel us to part with him when he assumes the role of a cocksure prophet.

What is the safe position for the average man to take today? The answer requires the use of no old word with a new emphasis. Facing the facts is in itself a very real act and to do so without prejudice demands that one be more of a realist than either an optimist or pessimist. The realist sees an issue from an all-round point of view. He is interested more in facts than theories. He usually plays safe. His judgments are based upon facts as they are and not as he wishes them to be. His convictions are largely the result of experience. He sees his goal with a clear eye. He possesses a cool heart as he unites his great adventure. Of the three, perhaps the realist is the safest guide; at least he is very sure about the road he travels and his confidence helps us take fresh courage and carry on.
